DROP-SHIP SALES TAX POLICY

Dear New Customer,

With the consent of both parties, The Douglas Stewart Company, Inc. (DSC) can frequently drop-ship sales to your customers. However, certain tax consequences will also apply depending on where those customers are located, and what tax status/certifications your company happens to hold in those locations.

For example, if DSC drop-ships to your customers in California, Hawaii, Massachusetts, Maryland, Mississippi, Tennessee, or the District of Columbia—a sales tax will be charged unless DSC also holds a copy of a valid resale/exemption certificate for your company in that jurisdiction.

Certain others including California, the District of Columbia, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Maryland, Mississippi, Nevada, and Tennessee do not accept the certificates of other states/districts. Valid certifications there need to carry a unique registration number issued by that jurisdiction.

By signing this Policy you indicate your understanding that sales taxes will be charged for drop-ship sales in jurisdictions where no certificates are available, and your agreement to pay such taxes when DSC drop-ships to a customer in a jurisdiction where you have not also provided DSC with a valid resale/exemption certificate.

In an effort to simplify invoicing, please indicate below those states/districts for which you have provided resale/exemption certifications, or are now providing along with this Policy. Note that a jurisdiction's acceptance or non-acceptance of a certificate shall remain the final determinative of certificate validity.

The following resale/exemption certificates shall/have been provided to DSC:

California	Illinois	Mississippi
District of Columbia	Indiana	Nevada
Florida	Massachusetts	Tennessee
Hawaii	Maryland
